

Canadian Military Family Scholarship Information

As a leader in online career training, CanScribe facilitates the development of skill sets in order to empower people to meet their career goals. CanScribe's education scholarships offer opportunity to people who have focused education and career goals, but are facing financial or situational challenges.

If the scholarships have already been awarded in any given year, all military members and military family members who enroll in the Medical Transcription / Healthcare Documentation program will be eligible to receive a free Dictation Program upgrade. Simply request the free upgrade upon your enrolment into the program. This promotion is not available to Scholarship recipients.

Eligibility

To be eligible for this scholarship, a recipient must:

- Quality to enroll in the Medical Transcription / Healthcare Documentation program by completing a program application form online.
- Submit his or her essay to admissions@canscribe.com no later than February 28th of that year.
- Pay the remaining tuition balance immediately, not combinable with any other scholarships or funding.
- Start the program within 3 months of the award date.
- Start the program after receiving the scholarship (current students are not eligible).

To help us evaluate your application, please include the following documents:

- Canadian Military ID (yours or a family member's)
- A 1-2 page personal essay describing your personal motivation for applying for the scholarship, your background information, how this career choice will impact your life, your plan of action to complete the course, and your future goals and aspirations.

"On behalf of the Canadian Forces Military Families I would like to thank CanScribe Career College for their generous scholarship offer. This online distance learning opportunity will benefit our military family members, where ever they are located and help overcome some of the barriers to employment that some of our families face as they transit from one location to another during their careers."

Brigadier-General Fred Bigelow
Director General Personnel and Family Support Services